

Potential Food Vendor Partnerships

Chipotle

Chipotle supports organizations through sponsorships, in-restaurant fundraisers, donations, and the scrip program. Currently the organization's primary areas of focus include, but are not limited to education, youth sports, and community improvement projects.

Safeway

In the "community caring" section of their Web site. (<http://www.safeway.com/IFL/Grocery/Community-Caring>), hunger relief is listed as one of Safeway's causes:

"Hunger relief is a natural extension of our business and a good fit for our community outreach. The need is great. According to U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates, 35 million Americans — including 12 million children — live in households that are uncertain of having, or are unable to acquire, sufficient food to meet basic needs."

In 2007 the organization donated approximately $110 million worth of merchandise to food banks, soup kitchens and various hunger-relief programs, bringing the total food donations over the past decade to more than $1 billion.

Safeway also is a leading supporter of America's Second Harvest, the nation's largest network of food banks. Collectively these facilities feed about 25 million people.

Giant:

Giant also has a commitment to hunger relief, noting that it has been "one of the largest corporate supporters of our local food banks, helping feed hungry families in our area."

Over the past 20 years, the organization has sponsored the Giant Good Neighbor Food and Funds Drive, which offers customers the opportunity to make non-perishable food and monetary donations to a local food bank at Giant. This year's program runs October 31-December 31, 2008. The goal is to raise $300,000 and to collect 150,000 pounds of food for area food banks."

These are their requirements for donation requests:

We are honored to give back to the communities we serve. All formal requests for grants, gift cards, in-kind assistance, and the like, must be sent in writing (not emails) on your organization's letterhead along with proof of your 501c3 status to the following address:

Giant Food LLC

Attn: Jamie Miller

8301 Professional Place, Suite 115

Landover, MD 20785

Please be very specific in writing to us as we receive approximately 75 to 100 letters every business day. Once we receive follow-up correspondence from an organization, it takes us approximately ten days to two weeks to respond. Please plan appropriately if you have an upcoming event.
